Participants sought for roundtable discussions

ST. EUSTATIUS--Researcher for the Netherlands Institute for Social Research (Sociaal-Cultureel Planbureau) Clifton Walle, a native of Curaçao, will be visiting St. Eustatius to carry out a research project on the developments in Statia since October, 10, 2010.

Walle is to engage with Stadians and discuss the changes they have experienced since 10-10-10. This project will focus on several areas such as the general situation of the island, the education and health system, income, the employment situation and social welfare, security, the infrastructure and the government and administration system. Participants are to become part of round-table discussions.

The discussions in Statia will be held at Caribbean Netherlands Science Institute (CNSI) at the former Talk of the Town hotel on Thursday, April 16.

There are many research projects and studies going on in the Caribbean Netherlands' islands these days. However, the Netherlands Institute for Social Research and Walle ask all Stadians to sign up and participate as their participation and more specifically the information they are to provide for the study, is deemed important for the success of the research project.

Interested persons that want to participate can contact Alex de Graaf via telephone number 581-2183 to sign up or to obtain more information about the study.
